PROTECT YOUR FLOORS AND WALLS WITH STRATASHIELD® COATINGS

Veterinary facility floors take a beating on a daily basis from animal nails, hooves, waste and cleaning chemicals. You need a floor that's tough but attractive; you need floor systems that can endure constant traffic and daily cleaning and still look great at the end of the day. You need StrataShield coatings from Tnemec Company.

Tnemec offers resinous floor and wall coatings for any type of veterinarian facility. Whether you demand added protection, enhanced cleanability or a floor that's visually appealing, Tnemec has a complete line of products - and a network of highly trained representatives - to meet your needs.

TOUGH. Your floor needs to be able to withstand the physical rigors of a busy day while at the same time being resistant to animal fluids and damage day in, day out.

SAFE. Employee and customer safety is always a concern on a wet floor. Your staff should be able to move around safely on the floors they work on. And, since resinous flooring systems are installed on-site by professional applicators, customized textures can be selected to meet your desired safety needs.

CLEANABLE. After hours of abuse, your floors and walls need to be easy to clean, providing a safe and sanitized floor that meets both your customers' and associates' requirements. StrataShield floor and wall coatings also withstand high-pressure hot washdowns at the end of the day.
